

PRESIDENT TO ADDRESS U.N.

Soviet Attitude At U. N. Assembly Is Big Question

New York Prepares For General Assembly Of U. N. Opening On Wednesday

MOLOTOV HOLDING KEY TO COOPERATION

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Future relations between the United States and Soviet Russia stood as the big question mark today while New York City rolled out the red carpet for Wednesday's meeting of the general assembly of the United Nations.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes already was on record with the assertion that Soviet leaders were anticipating another war, and with a plea that such an idea would be fatal to the future of civilization.

Answer With Molotov

On Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's resolute, the answer apparently rests. When the Byelo-Russian delegation arrived by plane here yesterday, its chief, Kouzma Kisselev, was queried about the prospects of a meeting of minds between the Russian orbit and the western power.

"Ask Mr. Molotov," was the reply.

Molotov and his entourage were to dock here today aboard the S. S. Queen Elizabeth, making her maiden passenger voyage.

Following up the position taken by Secretary Byrnes, John Foster Dulles, member of the American delegation to the General Assembly, staunchly defended the right of the United States to maintain a strong and definite foreign policy.

Britain Loses Dominance

Great Britain, he pointed out, by virtue of economic reverses and an untoward political situation, had lost her former dominance in the field of world affairs. France is still struggling back from her defeat by Germany, he said, while China is torn by internal dissension. Russia, continued Dulles, has been weakened by the ravages of war and has yet to prove that her program of economy will survive.

It was in this frame of mind that the delegations from 51 nations comprising the United Nations poured into New York.

Here, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, beginning Nov. 4, the council of foreign ministers will resume their efforts to agree on peace treaties, which ran in Paris so abortively through recent weeks and months.

Pa News: When cleaning my basement, I picked up the spout piece of a well pump and discovered a bit of paper and straw within it, so I began thumping it on the floor and out tumbled three baby mice. Then to see if there were any more, I bumped it furiously and once fully out rolled three more and one fully grown, (but it got away). After a matter of ten minutes, a mouse came sniffing around where I made the discovery and then disappeared. About two months ago, I found a nest of ten tiny mice in a quart jar, so who says there is a housing shortage. On two different Sunday mornings, on the New Castle Elwood-Cheston road, we saw three mice over which soon disappeared into the woods without delay. Mrs. Braden McKim, R. D. 1, New Castle, Pa.

Second Round Wage Campaigns Looming

By PHILIPS J. PECK
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Labor department officials today viewed the cost of living index as the controlling factor in the nation's efforts to escape another winter of production-crippling strikes in major industries.

Taking stock of the present national strike picture and appraising the future outlook, one top ranking official said that if prices level off and begin a downward movement "the possibility for stable industrial conditions will be very much brighter."

However, if the accelerated industrial program of OPA gives way to unchecked living cost increases, the experts believe labor's second-round reconversion wage demands will be correspondingly more difficult to settle.

Another Clash Occurs In Greece

ATHENS, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Official sources reported today that Greece's civil war flared up Sunday in two localities with the death toll listing 22 rebels and 10 members of the pro-government forces. Three hundred alleged bandits engaged detachments of the gendarmerie in a nine-hour battle at Vrontu village, at the foot of Mount Olympus. Both elements employed machine-guns, rifles and tommy-guns.

Predict O.P.A. Will End By January 1

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Government officials predicted today that the OPA will be abolished by Jan. 1 and said that the decontrol of flour and bread will be the next step in the gradual liquidation of the agency.

These officials declared that ceilings on flour, bread and other baked goods, and breakfast cereals will be lifted by tomorrow although Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is expected to deny an industry petition for the decontrol of bakery products.

Political Liability

The death of OPA by New Year's day was forecast on the grounds that administration leaders "look upon the agency as a political liability."

They are said to feel that OPA has become so unpopular that the sooner it is abolished the better.

One plan reportedly being considered calls for the release of the 34,000 OPA employees by Jan. 1 and the transfer of all remaining price controls to other government agencies.

It was pointed out that controls over rents and building materials might be transferred to Housing Ex-

Chest Chairmen To Give Reports At Noon Tuesday

Second Report Meeting Of Current Campaign Expected To Boost Total

Hoping to cut down the remaining sum of $52,269 yet to be raised before the $88,800 goal is reached, Community Chest campaign chairmen will meet in The Castleton hotel Tuesday noon, for the second report meeting of the 1946 drive.

Chairman Howard B. Richards points out that the banks division, under the chairmanship of Joel S. McKee, has raised 94 percent of its $4,000 quota; the attorneys division, under Mrs. C. H. Johnson, Jr., has raised 89 percent of a $1,600 quota; and the dentists division has raised 81 percent of a $700 quota.

Both the chairman and the workers are hoping to complete the campaign as quickly as possible, and with results as successful as those of surrounding communities.

Report from eleven divisions which were not represented at the first report meeting last Thursday are expected to bring the total raised so far much higher than the $36,331 sum raised during the first two days of the drive.

Workers are canvassing shops, offices, factories, and homes soliciting contributions for the fund which benefits the majority of the social service and welfare agencies of this community.

First Major Air Pilots' Strike Is Called—Climax Of Long Dispute

PASSENGERS ARE BEING LANDED

(By International News Service)

Trans World Airlines' 28, 270 miles of domestic and world-girdling air networks were paralyzed today by the first major pilots strike in the history of America's commercial air lines.

The walkout was called at 4:59 a. m. EST, and became effective later in the morning as flights were cancelled in such centers as Washington, Chicago and Detroit.

David L. Behncke, president of the AFL's Airplane Pilots association, and spokesman for the striking pilots, said in Washington that 1,100 pilots and co-pilots were affected.

Behncke said all TWA air traffic on both foreign and domestic routes was grinding to a stop as the big airliners were grounded.

Long Dispute

Behncke described the system-wide strike as a "last-resort action" to effect settlement of a dispute that has been in progress with TWA for more than a year. He said:

"We have maintained peace on the air lines for 15 years and obviously it is with regret that such a splendid record of labor-management relations had to be broken. However, there is no other course open after the failure of direct negotiations, mediation, arbitration

Reveal How Japan Made Plans For War

By JOHN RICH
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Oct. 21.—Japan's well-laid plans for the Pacific war—including the date for the Pearl Harbor attack which was set almost a month in advance—were outlined today before the International War Crimes Tribunal.

Erigader R. H. Quilliam, associate prosecutor from New Zealand, described the plans in opening the phase of the war crimes case dealing with Japan's general preparations for war.

Quilliam said that by the end of October, 1941, Japan had secretly committed herself to war against the United States, Great Britain and The Netherlands.

Soviet-Backed Party Loses In Berlin Elections

First Free Election In 14 Years Regarded As Blow To Russian Prestige

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Final unofficial returns in Berlin municipal election gave the Social Democrats an impressive victory, today over the Soviet-backed Social Unity party which finished a poor third.

The result in Berlin's first free election in 14 years was regarded as a severe blow to the prestige of the Russia occupation authorities.

The moderately left-wing Social Democrats received 947,414 votes, or 48.4 per cent of the total, as nearly two million voters went to the polls in an election unmarred by incidents.

The Christian Democratic Union, a middle of the road party with a strong religious tendency, finished second with 442,837—22.5 per cent of the total.

The Socialist Unity group received 389,783—19.9 per cent. The conservative Liberal Democratic party won 179,761, or 9.2 of the total.

Western Policies Endorsement

The strong Social Democratic victory came despite a vigorous campaign in Berlin's Soviet-sponsored press which until election day was filled with bitter attacks on the socialists as "fascists and reactionaries."

The result was considered an endorsement of western policies over those of the east.

Says Molotov Comes To Play Rough-Tough

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov comes to New York from Paris today determined to be the big splash at the United Nations conference and brings with him a bag well stuffed with Kremlin speeches and instructions.

He indicated that much to the east-bloc members after his return to Paris from Moscow two weeks ago for the closing days of the peace conference. A Balkan diplomat (now in exile in Paris) who knows Russia and the men around Stalin extremely well from his many years in Moscow, was heard to remark:

"Molotov is going to New York armed with all the diplomatic acumen in the Soviet deck, and he is going to play rough and tough."

March-Of-Dimes Gives $3,569,035 In Polio Battles

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—(INS)—WALTER D. CROSS, organization director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, today listed $3,569,035 raised through the March-Of-Dimes drive as distributed this year to American communities hit by polio.

British Rushing Reinforcements To Eastern Bengal

CALCUTTA, Oct. 21.—(INS)—British authorities hurried hundreds of troops reinforcements today to Eastern Bengal where Moslems and Hindus were engaged in new religious strife.

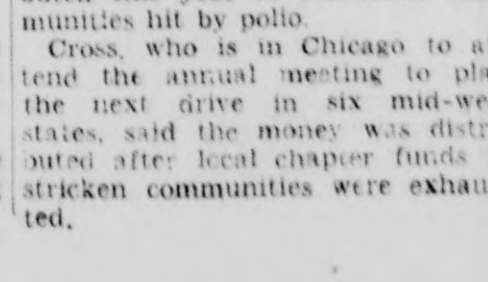

Several thousand persons were reported killed and thousands of homes destroyed in a wave of terrorism.

The area is largely Moslem. Hindu refugees, arriving in Calcutta, said the Moslems were engaged in a campaign of forced conversions. They told of escaping at night by crossing water-covered rice fields and swimming canals.

The outbreak rivalled last summer's Calcutta hostilities in the number of estimated casualties. The Calcutta riot broke out when Moslems and Hindus disagreed on political issues stemming from the British plan for an interim all-Indian government.

Since then the congress party and Moslem League have reached an agreement to set up a coalition ministry. It was feared this latest outbreak might threaten that coalition and delay the time-schedule for total Indian independence.

Probe Blasts At Stuttgart

Fears Of Nazi Werewolf Resistance In Germany Devel- oped By Bombings

By LOWELL BENNETT (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

STUTTGART, Oct. 21.—(INS)—A military government spokesman said today that three bomb explosions which set off official fears of a Nazi werewolf resistance campaign may have cleared up "probably within a matter of hours."

The spokesman said American counter intelligence officers are still probing the explosions and that a communique with the solution can be expected shortly.

It was learned that no arrests have been made yet, but suspicion points to a band of former Nazi party members who wanted to balk proceedings against them by de- stroying evidence stored in denazi- fication bureaus.

Records Undamaged

They were unsuccessful. The bombs left the records undamaged. Two of the bombs went off out- side denazification tribunal head- quarters in Stuttgart and in the nearby town of Backnang. The third was detonated in front of the American military police headquar- ters in Stuttgart.

The spokesman said American authorities knew the Germans were concealing arms and explosives in cellars and secret forest caches.

He said that some fanatical Nazis have not been discouraged by the long prison terms meted out to per- sons violating the ban on withhold- ing munitions. British authorities have sentenced several such viola- tors to death.

Meanwhile, extra guards have been placed on duty to forestall a possible second attempt to wipe out the court records.

'Homesickness' Ends War Bride's Stay In U.S., She's Going Back

OAKDALE, Pa., Oct. 21.—(INS)—Pretty Peggy Adams today was on her way home to England. "Homesickness" has shattered her dreams of a happy life in the United States. Mrs. Adams left behind in Oak- dale her honeymoon cottage and her husband, just seven months after she came to the U. S. from Chingfund, England, as a war bride.

Peggy said:

"It was just too lonesome. I missed my home."

She said that she had been happy in this country for a while. But then she began to miss her family.

When Peggy first came to Oak- dale she received a joyous welcome. The Oakdale fire department led the reception committee and bore Peggy and her husband, former Sgt. James G. Adams, to their honey- moon home in a fire truck.

Peggy said they will sell their home, adding that James "under- stands."

Her husband plans to join her in England later and attend Cam- bridge.

The couple first met in 1942 dur- ing the blitz and were married in April 1945.

mer German Imperial palace in the Soviet zone of Berlin and di- rected to follow a Russian car to headquarters.

Aimed At Tire Of Jeep

The Russian MP who fired the fatal shot said he was aiming at the tire of the jeep in which Flory and two American girls were riding.

The eyewitness story of the shoot- ing was told by the two American girls, Petra Johnson of Sumter, S. C., and Carolyn Wiser of Cleve- land—who accompanied Flory, a former signal corps captain in the South Pacific on the jeep trip into the Soviet zone.

They said Flory was taking photos of the former German Imperial palace when he was interrupted by a Soviet MP and directed to follow a Russian vehicle to headquarters.

The girls declared Flory per- mitted the jeep-driver, a German, to follow the Soviet machine a short distance but soon commented:

"Let's get out of this and avoid red tape."

Then he ordered his driver to make a turn into a side street.

The Russian MP fired one shot immediately but missed the Ameri- can jeep.

However, Flory's driver became lost and stopped to ask directions.

The Russian vehicle approached again and the MP opened fire a second time. The bullet penetrated Flory's heart. He died almost im- mediately.

Belvedere said planes in the air at the strike deadline would be taken to a division point to eliminate the possibility of air travelers being stranded in out-of-the-way places.

on the site of the last New York World's Fair, all 51 signatories to the charter of the United Nations will meet, beginning Wednesday, in an effort to iron out international differences.

Simultaneously, the UN Security Council, charged with preserving world peace and security, and ac- knowledge as the all-powerful body of the United Nations, will be meeting at Lake Success, several miles further up in Long Island.

There are many grave problems confronting the assembling world delegates. In addition to agreement on actual peace treaties with Italy, Germany and Japan, there is the matter of establishing trusteeships over many minor territories and is- lands.

Creation of an international re- lief organization to replace the United Nations relief and rehabili- tation administration is another issue. There is agreement in principle on continuing the succor of war re- fugees and the rebuilding of de- vastated areas, but there is a marked difference as to the outlay of the necessary money—most of which to date has been put up to the United States.

Racial clashes unquestionably will be aired. Outstanding is the Jewish effort to take over Palestine, with the Arabs hotly dissenting.

The UAW blueprinted the coming winter's wage battles by announcing that the auto industry will not be served with any specific demands.

The auto workers, who expect to start the ball rolling in negotia- tions with Chrysler this week, said the cost of living has risen too rapidly to permit a fixed figure such as the 30-cent-an-hour goal year which finally was resolved for 18 cents.

Nevertheless, the CIO-UAW reportedly is thinking in terms of a second-round pay boost of about 20 cents an hour. The trend of liv- ing costs in the next few months will determine whether the ultimate settlement will be nearer 10 cents or 20 cents and whether a prolonged strike will be necessary before the dispute is ironed out.

Reluctant To Strike?

Labor department officials believe top union leaders are reluctant to engage in another series of costly strikes if any kind of a reasonable settlement can be made to com- pensate for the estimated 10 per cent increase in the cost of living since the last change was made in the government's stabilization policy in February.

The wage drive of the auto work- ers will spearhead events in the industrial relations arena this win- ter, with steel, coal and other ma- jor groups to follow.

The beginning of second-round wage campaigns comes at a time when the country is virtually free from major strikes with the excep- tion of the 21-day-old walkout of 25,000 licensed merchant marine of- ficers.

Latest figures of the U. S. con- ciliation service showed only 220 strikes throughout the country in- volving 137,551 workers.

was considered significant in view of its appeal to religious-minded Germans.

About 60 per cent of the voters who went to the polls to choose candidates for the Berlin city council and the borough assemblies were women.

Berliners manifested intense in- terest in the elections, the first test of western and Russian policies since the four-power occupation began in Sept. 1945. However, 10-man teams of allied observers reported no major untoward incidents.

More than 85 per cent of the eligi- ble voters went to the polls and in some districts the percentage ran as high as 95.

peditor Wilson Wyatt and that the agriculture department probably would inherit controls over sugar and rice if this plan is adopted.

Continue Some Controls

Should OPA be liquidated by Jan. 1, these controls probably would be transferred to Civilian Production Administrator Small.

The administration reportedly is considering the ending of OPA to prevent another battle over the agency when the 80th congress convenes Jan. 3.

By abolishing OPA by that date, the administration could spare it- self at least one contest in congress. There is widespread belief in Wash- ington that if a Republican congress is elected one of its first acts would be passage of legislation killing OPA.

Baking Industry Action

Anderson is required by law to act before nightfall on the baking industry petition for removal of ceilings on bread and baked goods. Officials said he would reject the petition, but that controls on these products would be lifted by other action not later than tomorrow.

Restrictions on the use of edible fats and oils also are expected to be removed by the agricultural depart- ment within a few days. This action would result from the decontrol of fats and oils last week.

Present plans of OPA call for the decontrol of all foods except sugar, syrups, molasses and rice by Nov. 1. Controls on hundreds of other items also may be lifted by that date.

Get Welcome Relief From Stomach Gas, Sour Food Taste

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal? If so, here is how you may rid yourself of this nervous distress. Thousands have found it the way to be- well, cheerful and happy again.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow down to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a mor- bid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medi- cal authorities, in independent labora- tory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent ac- tivating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non- organic, weak, watery blood in nutri- tional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red- blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over- doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait until the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Later a group of 20 met for luncheon at the Penn-Grove hotel.

Arrangements for the field trip were in charge of Miss Belle Montgomery.

Tentative plans are for a Binney & Smith workshop early in November for members and all art teachers of the vicinity, the dates and places to be announced.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Greater Production Is Need of Nation

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 21.—The more you travel through the country coming up against the shortage, the more you realize the soaring prices, the more clearly you are made to see that the basic American dilemma is it comes through in spite of all the noisy political shouting, the babel of voices.

If we are to have full employment, or anything approaching it, then we must use the new productive capacity that was created during the war. Our economy must expand in every direction. Above all, there must be more goods and services to be brought with the wages of 60,000,000 workers.

Means More Production

This means more houses, more recreation centers, more shops, more restaurants, more trains and airplanes, more hotels. It means greater productivity on the farm.

Yet in the face of the need for this expansion, we seem to be overcome with a kind of paralysis. It is a paralysis of mind, perhaps even more than the physical paralysis of delays and obstructions, which keeps us from the goal of essential expansion.

We are thinking still in terms of the economy of 1939 and 1940. We have not begun to accept the kind of expansion which calls for boldness and imagination; for breaking down the physical barriers of the constricted world we knew before the war.

All the potentialities are there. It is a promised land just over the horizon. Yet we stand, like timid children, chained to the past and fearful of the future.

In every city, the traveler encounters a harsh, unpleasant fact that sums up our dilemma. That is the fearful congestion of traffic, which seems at times to threaten a breakdown. The narrow streets of another age are clogged with the machines of the present. It is a striking and dramatic symbol of our plight.

Everyone Complains

Everyone complains about it. Well, it's bad enough now, they say, but what will it be like when all the new cars get on the streets? It is almost as though we dreaded the expansion that must come if we are to avoid the eventual catastrophe of a glut of goods that cannot be sold.

In almost every city, the need is for elevated highways, for high-speed boulevards, for a drastic redistribution of the flow of traffic. You hear of plans for such essential changes and even of funds set aside during the war to meet the costs. But there are few signs that the work is to begin or even that it can be done.

Here, of course, the tragic fact of our price inflation is at work. A fund set aside for an essential improvement—for street widening, for example—must be used for a badly needed unit of housing, for a new anti-aircraft defense, for a new anti-aircraft defense. It will meet only half the cost.

The mounting spiral of prices threatens to close the avenues that is the real meaning of the scarcity and the bidding up of prices in the scramble for what there is to buy. The need for some controls, some restraints, is so glaring. Yet what we get in this strange political campaign is the parrot cry of "free enterprise," "New Deal" to the Truman administration, and "laissez-faire" to the Roosevelt administration.

The men who were around Roosevelt, even down to the lowest ranks, are now almost all gone. Henry Wallace, whose influence in the Truman cabinet never amounted to much, was almost the last leaf on the tree.

There are signs that here on the Pacific slope is a greater understanding of the need to cut through the narrow restrictions preventing the expansion so vital if our economy is to flourish.

Southern California, developed with the development of the motor car. The vast distances—Los Angeles County has 450 square miles—demand the use of the motor car. People are migrating here in unprecedented numbers. Soldiers stationed in the area during the war are coming back to live and bringing their families with them. At the same time, the number of cars in use is expanding at a phenomenal rate. There is said to be one car for approximately every two persons in this region today.

But they are beginning to try to cope with the traffic problem. New boulevards are being laid out. It is a heartening sign that forces are moving to open the way for expansion. Perhaps because they have seen the inhibitions of the settled, older sections of America, they are more nearly prepared to accept the world of tomorrow.

TULIP PLANTER

I passed a row of dwellings small.

The war had left behind.

Chap, dismal places, one and all.

West flashing through my mind.

But one was kept with tender care.

The patch of lawn was trim,

And some man's wife was planting there.

A bit of charm for him.

Love brightens places bleak and bare.

With many a pretty thing;

And so there will be tulips there.

Red tulips, in the spring.

Poison That Really Killed Him

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Service)
N. Y. World's Fair grounds—(revisited)—Delegates are beginning to arrive for the UN General Assembly. Many with as lofty a peace speech as ever was made here seven years ago.

These grounds which were dedicated to peace in 1939 are being dedicated to peace again in 1946. Not many enjoyed the sabbatical holiday in between.

But nothing is the same here. The Japanese pavilion has been torn down, the Futurama has been carted away, Grover Whalen's carnation has wilted.

The time capsule still is here. It was put in the ground to remain a thousand years but some people want to dig it up now and get out the 1939 grocery prices.

The delegates will meet in the City Building which has been used as an ice skating rink. It now is defrosted and any future chills will be purely international.

Billy Rose's Aquacade is closed but may be reopened for secretaries with under-water pens.

"All aboard for Venus!"

Yes, pretty soon, may be, you will be able to go on a 25,000,000-mile trip to that planet, although if I were you, I wouldn't count on it for the next year or the year after.

But they are working on it at the University of California and Dr. Samuel H. Koenig, assistant professor of astronomy, now has a sort of astronomical travel bureau on the Los Angeles campus where ten students are helping to work out the grand tour into space.

According to present plans, you will go by rocket ship and the round trip will take about a year or more.

No travel folders for the Venus excursion are as yet available, and I haven't the slightest idea what clothes you are supposed to wear or what rights you are going to see.

I am not going to bother you with the scientific details of the projected trip, primarily because I don't understand them myself, but the good professor said something about "man-made propellants" will be used to get the ship off the earth, but the trip will quickly pass beyond the dominating influence of the earth's gravitation, and their movements will largely depend on the gravitational currents of other solar bodies, except for limited steering impulses provided by later rocket discharges.

That will give you the general idea—and there may also be a short stopover on the moon.

Now please don't think that all this is a lot of dreamboat stuff. It's possible, yes, it's even probable. Do you remember how people used to laugh at the automobile? Just a few years ago, and the inventors were crazy.

And a cheerful good Monday to you. . . it's all in your frame of mind when a Monday looks blue. . . We haven't a clue thought to talk about right now. . . maybe that will change as the words roll along.

Saturday evening about 5,000 football fans had their eyes opened up. . . and their throats for good football satisfied. Ben Franklin and George Washington Junior High School staged a real game at Target Field. . . the score was 20 to 6 in favor of Franklin but the score didn't mean everything. . . It was a top notch game all the way through.

Austin Comstock coached the Franklin winners. . . and a mighty good job he did too. Austin didn't exactly surprise the fans. . . they knew that he always turned out good fast, smart and hard hitting teams. . . In fact a good many sportsmen went just to see the Franklin boys do their stuff. . . Mighty fine going Austin and congratulations to your team members.

The really big surprise of the evening came when the Washington team stepped out on the field and started to play. . . they gave the Franklin boys a good work out. . . and from what we hear, not a person is complaining about the final score. . . The new coach at Washington made the football lovers sit up. . . they weren't expecting to notice this particular coach until a little later in the year. . . in fact not until basketball time. . . But that was all changed.

William Douglas is the man's name. . . "Doug" as he is called by close friends and associates was brought to town for the purpose of speeding up the Ne-Ca-Hi basketball team. . . However that season doesn't start for a time yet. . . so naturally he had to continue in his other job. . . And the results of that. . . training the Washington team. . . really made a big hit Saturday evening.

Douglas. . . Trough what we hear on the streets you are in. . . the team members like you. . . the fans like you. . . We are looking forward to other interesting football games between Franklin and Washington. . . Our hat is off to two swell coaches. . . and two swell teams.

Truman Inherited Mess Of 13 Years

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A RATHER ridiculous effort is being made in this campaign by the so-called Democratic strategists to win this election by extravagant eulogies of the late Mr. Roosevelt. In state platforms in which influence of the national machine is felt, the fact that Mr. Roosevelt's name is mentioned seven or eight times and Mr. Truman's once or not at all—is played up as though that were a clever thing to have done.

FOLLOWING this line, it has become more or less habitual—particularly among the so-called liberal periodicals and press writers—to ignore Mr. Truman and devote practically all their time to eulogizing his predecessor. From the practical point of view, that would be stupid. In the first place, Mr. Roosevelt is very dead, indeed, whereas Mr. Truman is a much-alive President who is the titular leader of his party and almost certain to be its presidential nominee in 1948. This systematic disparagement by his own people does not make sense.

NATURALLY, praise for Mr. Roosevelt and the "Roosevelt policies" by Democratic conventions, candidates and leaders (including Mr. Truman himself) is to be expected. Failure to do that would be absurd. It would amount to repudiation by the party of the party and of the party's former President. Parties never repudiate themselves. That is the main reason no one-term President is ever denied a renomination or can afford not to take one. Failure to renominate or fail to run amounts to self-repudiation for both. Neither parties nor Presidents operate in that way. This eulogy of Mr. Roosevelt is as natural now as the nomination of Mr. Truman will be natural two years from now.

WHAT is neither natural, normal nor sensible is an utterly disproportionate deluge of praise, so bombastic and extreme as to make it appear that the Democratic party has no one living worth speaking about at all; that the only favorable comment is reserved for the dead. Even if this were true, it would be bad politics to proclaim it. The unnecessary belittlement of one's own man is not good politics. Usually, that is left to the opposition, and the party in power upholds, defends and denies. These Democratic bores are much too busy at present praising Mr. Roosevelt to say a good word for the unfortunate Mr. Truman. Thus the current Democratic strategy all but reverses the usual procedure. By so vastly overdoing the Roosevelt eulogy it minimizes and discredits Mr. Truman and plays squarely into the Republican hands. Votes can be lost that way, certainly. Votes will be gained. Moreover, the thing that makes the whole business especially silly is that Mr. Truman is no more the spineless little nonentity the superlatives tend to make him out than the late Mr. Roosevelt was the supreme embodiment of all wisdom and virtue.

ACTUALLY, of course, the main trouble with Mr. Truman is that he has inherited the awful mess which thirteen years of Mr. Roosevelt had made of the country. It is inevitable that the tragic conditions under which he became President to pledge continuity of the "Roosevelt policies" and to admiration of Mr. Roosevelt's personal qualities, he was shackled from the very beginning—not only by the economic policy of the previous administration but by its degrading political alliances. Had he been free of these, undoubtedly he could have done better. This is not to claim that Mr. Truman is any "ball of fire," nor to contend that he has not made grievous mistakes on the ground of the Roosevelt commitments. It is to assert that he never had a fair break and that if he had been a much stronger man than he is, there was not an awful lot he could have done. For thirteen years we had been pursuing a preposterous course toward an impossible goal, defying the rules of reason and the accumulated experience of the ages.

THE results were inevitable. It is Mr. Truman's tough luck that the whole sticky business had to come unmade immediately after he took hold. Had his predecessor lived, the evidence of his failure would have been so clear that the glamour and prestige which, one way or another, he had accumulated would have disappeared. He was lucky to the last. As things are, there is a whole lot of foolish talk in noticed circles about the "Roosevelt policies" but no one today knows what the "Roosevelt policies" either foreign or domestic really are. Literally, there is nothing left of them.

AND that is not the fault of Mr. Truman, who has been foolishly trying to carry them out after time has disappeared and disproved them. When Mr. Truman makes this discovery and strikes out on his own, the better off both he and the country will be. Whatever the outcome of the November elections, if they relieve him of his present burden, there is a way to make things tougher for the Democrats not only in 1946 but in 1948 than his policy of making this a 100 per cent Roosevelt campaign. It has not yet been suggested.

This, we are told, is the brasserie. People have the brass to ask Uncle Sam for anything—Washington, Iowa, Evening Journal.

WORK OF CAMPFIRE GIRLS LAUDED

You and I have always been happy to see the good character building by such organizations as the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., K. of C., Y.M.H.A., 4-H clubs, Camp Fire Girls and the like. It all of us boosted and supported these grand organizations as we should a large proportion of our children would be members of one or more of them.

Camp Fire Girls

There is a nation-wide membership drive on by the Camp Fire Girls to continue through November 30. I know a good deal about this organization as my daughter was a member and Mrs. Myers served for a number of years on the Camp Fire Girls Council in a large city.

The present membership exceeds 360,000 girls in number. More than 2,000,000 girls have been Camp Fire Girls since its beginning in 1910.

Camp Fire Law

Here is the Law of Camp Fire Girls. Worship God, Seek Beauty, Give Service, Pursue Knowledge, Be Trustworthy, Hold on to Health, Glorify Work Be Happy.

Its watchword is "Wohelo" being composed of the first three letters of the words "Work," "Health," "Love." Its program is rich in pleasure.

The Junior organization of Camp Fire Girls is called Blue Birds. It serves girls from 7 to 9 years old. These youngsters have a costume and program of their own. The intermediate group of Camp Fire Girls is called White Birds. It serves girls from 10 through junior high school. The senior organization is for girls ranging from high school seniors through junior college.

Opportunity To Develop

As with Brownies or Cubs in Scouting, the Blue Birds have the biggest opportunities for development. I believe it is at this early age when most can be done to interest girls in craftsmanship and industry and practice of good citizenship and high ideals. Moreover, children begin early in such group activities are rendered thereby more ready for similar activities at a later age. Just as Brownies have good training for Scouting, so Blue Birds have good training for "Camp Firing."

Just to enlist new members for Camp Fire Girls or similar organizations does not get very far without adequate leaders—leaders who are not only fine persons but who also are persons who understand these girls and are skilled in guiding these girls through dynamic programs.

In various parts of the nation I have heard it said that there could be ever so many more local units of Camp Fire Girls and similar organizations if leaders were available. They are so many young women who could become excellent leaders of Camp Fire Girls if only they discerned the good they could do in this service. If moreover they sensed the personal values they might derive therefrom.

Let me entreat those who have volunteered to be leaders to keep in mind their responsibility to these precious young persons. It requires serious effort at planning the programs well and being present at the meetings promptly and regularly. Let no non-dependable lax, halfhearted "leader" become a millstone about the necks of Camp Fire Girls. Most of the leaders are wonderful and are doing far more good than they will ever suppose they are doing. May God bless them. The National Headquarters of Camp Fire Girls is at 88 Lexington Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.

Answer: Yes, it is necessary for you to become a good mixer, if you want your husband to prosper and if you wish to share in the fruits of his prosperity. Begin today and discipline yourself to act as if you really regard everyone you meet as fully worth your friendly interest.

People who are demonstrative are usually well-liked. Don't be afraid to show enthusiastic welcome, especially to visiting relatives and old friends. Show them the affection that you really feel at seeing them.

Greet all new acquaintances in your new village as though they already are your friends. You will be unable to make immediately friends of absolutely all of them, but you can lay a lasting foundation by making all of them feel that you have a friendly attitude toward them. That attitude of mind will not only increase your husband's business, but will, in the long run, make you happier and more comfortable in your contacts.

Your happiness will increase in proportion to your number of friends. And there is no limit to their numbers unless you cultivate the art of collecting them.

IMPORTANCE OF BEING FRIENDLY

"My husband has just purchased a store in this village, strange to me to which we have just moved from a distant town. He continually nags me about how necessary it is to his business for me to become a good mixer among all I meet here at church and elsewhere. Do you think that necessary when I don't feel naturally inclined to be super-friendly toward people? It isn't that I am aloof or snobbish, but just naturally reserved and unassuming."

Hints On Etiquette

Being co-operative, whether it is in the home, in business or social club life, is good manners.

The royal artist picked for Princess Elizabeth by the gossips turned out to be a Greek prince sporting a heavy beard. False, we suppose the Greek situation being what it is.—Detroit News.

Prospect Doesn't Please

It's impossible for the newsmen who covered the Paris peace conference to know everything that went on behind the scenes during the eleven-week session, but at least they know what went on in the open, what the results were and what impressions they formed.

What most of the newsmen thought about the whole thing was brought out in an unofficial poll. They didn't think much of it. Of 142 reporters polled, 56 voted the conference a complete failure, 33 said it was a farce, 31 thought it a success and the others declined to comment.

That doesn't speak very well for the Big Four foreign ministers' chances of working out satisfactory peace arrangements at their meeting beginning November 4 in New York.

One fairly encouraging angle of the poll was the opinion of 91 of the newsmen queried that war between Russia and the Western powers is avoidable.

But what the poll seems to reveal, if it reveals anything, is that the prospects are more for an uneasy absence of hostilities than they are for the healthy peace that is the supreme desire of the people of the world.

The council of foreign ministers still has the opportunity to change those prospects to what they ought to be, but to do so its members will have to show a far greater capacity for agreement and regard for the general welfare than Molotov has demonstrated to date.

Significant Referendum

Nebraska voters on November 5 will express their sentiments on a "right to work" amendment to the state constitution, one similar to the legislation passed some time ago in Florida. The purpose of the amendment is to prevent any worker's being deprived of the right to work because of a closed shop contract.

The fact that such an amendment is being voted on at all constitutes a significant commentary upon the times.

The Constitution of the United States is supposed to guarantee exactly what this Nebraska amendment purports to provide. The general guarantees of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" are certainly phony if the citizen may be deprived, in any way no fault of his own, of the right to work where a job exists and he is able to do it.

To get the thing in proper perspective, much is heard about the right to vote, and the importance of that is certainly not overestimated. But how much more important is the right to vote than the right to work? A man can live without voting, but few can live without working. Economic freedom is not only equally as important as political freedom, but the two are so closely related that neither can actually exist in the absence of the other.

Voting on a right to work amendment, as Nebraskans are going to do, is simply recognition of the fact that passage of the Wagner Act in 1935 and the creation of a great body of administrative law since then, have to all practical purposes amended the Constitution of the United States without the trouble of having the amendment submitted to the states in the manner prescribed by that document itself.

U. S. Needs Come First

We are given the usual bland explanation by the Treasury department that a preferential order for large steel pipe for Russia—via UNRRA, of course—is just "routine." Governor Earl Warren of California is protesting to the State department that the Soviet order is being shoved ahead of pressing needs in California for that kind of pipe.

Mr. Warren declares that fulfillment of the Russian requisition under the conditions will seriously delay construction of a 1200-mile natural gas pipeline from Texas to California and thereby aggravate southern California housing difficulties.

But, says the Treasury department, everything's on the up and up. This is only "routine"—Russia isn't being given any special priority. Just the same there is California's serious problem. What are the State department and the Treasury department going to do about it?

On past performances California—and the rest of the country—will get the now wearisome familiar routine: Russia will be given the steel pipe; California will have to wait while the veterans wait for new homes. Here is a flagrant instance where foreign demands for critical American goods conflict directly and seriously with American needs.

UNRRA to the contrary notwithstanding, American needs should by all means be met first. Let Russia wait.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Huge Federal Payroll

When the New Deal got into full swing there were great increases in the number of federal employees as the administration embarked upon its program of soaking the rich and regimenting the nation. Came the war and the civilian payroll jumped to $8,300,000,000 by July 1, 1944, and last year it was only a few millions less.

There has been emphatic insistence by taxpayers that the government balance the budget.

But the 3,000,000 federal employees, their wives, uncles, aunts and cousins have votes and the administration seems unwilling to overlook the fact.

Senator Byrd has said the government's business would be administered as efficiently with half the number of employees. The saving would be $4,000,000,000 a year. The cost then would still be four times that of 1929.

There is a great deal of complaint as to the quality of most of our own motion pictures. But how about the quality of the minds of most of the people who seem to enjoy such pictures?

TERROR CAMPAIGN IN UNITED STATES CLAIMED BY RUSSIAN

He added that it might be the result of a deliberate campaign to terrify people by purely artificial means including Hollywood horror pictures.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Mighty Mike Mazurki, the wrestler-turned actor, is going back to wrestling for a spell.

"I'll be the most unique personal appearance tour of a Hollywood notable in the history of the screen," said Mike.

"I've had a growing itch to get back in the ring," said Mike, who has an expansive area for an area. He's six feet, 4½ inches tall and weighs a hard 235 pounds.

He added: "It's in my blood, like the ham in an actor."

Will Start Tour

Mike will start a nation-wide tour with an appearance in New York City after he completes "Unconquered" for Paramount, probably in three weeks.

"I originally made plans to get away last Tuesday, but the picture didn't get finished in time," he told his reporter.

Mike said there is a possibility he may wrestle the Italian giant, Primo Carniero, in New York for his opening match.

"I isn't settled yet, but that would be a good one," he said. "We're both very big men, but, of course, Carniero is even bigger than I am. He's six feet, 8½ inches tall and weighs 265 pounds. I don't know whether I could beat him or not. I saw him out here. He looks in very good shape."

To Return To Hollywood

Mike plans to be back in Hollywood just before Christmas. He plans to resume his screen career about that time and what's more important, he and his pretty wife, Jeanette, are expecting their first baby about then.

Mike began his screen career five years ago when he was discovered in a Los Angeles ring by Josef von Sternberg, who also discovered Marlene Dietrich.

Von Sternberg wanted a huge man who could speak Russian to play a goon in "Shanghai Gesture." Mike's movie career only crept along for a couple of years until he hit the jackpot as "Moose" in "Murder, My Sweet."

Your reporter wanted to know if Mike wasn't running a risk injuring himself and thus retarding his screen career by returning to wrestling, where the combatants frequently get tossed out of the ring. "Not particularly," said Mike. "If you get thrown out of the ring, you've got to remember to relax. If you stiffen up your muscles you may get a broken arm, or something."

"Anyhow, mostly it's not bad. Generally you land in somebody's nice soft lap."

Order On Length Of Women's Dresses Has Been Revoked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The Civilian Production Administration announced Saturday the revocation of the government's order restricting the length and design of women's and children's outer wearing apparel.

CPA Chief John D. Small said the order would be lifted "as soon as formal legal action can be taken." He explained that the action was in line with the agency's policy of relaxing controls as soon as it can safely be done.

Known as "L-85" in trade circles, the style order was designed to prevent radical style changes while cotton, rayon and wool fabrics were in short supply. It went into effect in 1942.

In announcing the revocation of the order, Small said:

"We believe that the whole textile situation has improved to such an extent that this relaxation can be made at this time."

The CPA chief said that the lifting of the order should not result in any substantial changes in fall or winter styles because the bulk of cutting garments for these two seasons has been completed.

He asked manufacturers, however, to use restraint in setting new styles. He appealed to them to continue to use fabrics which are in short supply for "only the most essential purposes."

At one time, the order held women's dresses, coats, blouses and children's outer wear to basic designs and limited measurement of sleeves, cuffs, pockets, trimming, length and sweep.

Report 45,000 Added To State Assistance Rolls

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The Department of Public Assistance reported today that approximately 45,000 persons have been added to relief rolls since January 1.

More than $55,000,000 was needed to finance the burden, it was added. Expenditures last month totaled $6,263,400 or about $31,300 under August.

The department said there were 267,363 persons on the rolls as of October 12, an increase of 549 over the previous week. At the beginning of the year, there were approximately 221,000 persons on relief.

Acting Secretary Robert P. Wray pointed out that October expenditures would reflect the added monthly cost of approximately $700,000 approved by the State Relief board to offset increased food and clothing costs.

During September, Wray added, $780,500 was spent for general assistance; $2,193,400 for aid to dependent children; $2,746,200 for old age assistance; and $543,200 for blind pensions.

In a cleanup of the water at Wakarusa, New Zealand, where Maori children dive for coins tossed by tourists, nearly 75 mostly pennies, which the children had missed, was recovered.

Milk Cow Value On State Farms Reported At $187

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst reported today that the average value of milk cows on Pennsylvania farms during September was $187 each, a $5 advance compared with August.

Horst said the prevailing high average was $37 over the price in September, 1945, and approximately two and one-half times the pre-war average of $72.12 per cow.

"Removal of price controls on milk and dairy products have given dairy farmers incentive to produce more milk," Horst said. "This is the chief answer to an all-time September production of 470 pounds per cow that brought total output well ahead of September in 1945."

Value of milk produced in the state last year totaled $200,000,000, he added.

Pollock Lauded By Vandenberg

New Castle Native Praised For Efforts To Promote Peace Since Close Of War

High praise was given James K. Pollock, Jr., head of the political science department of the University of Michigan, and son of Mrs. Ella N. Pollock, of East street for his efforts to bring about peace following the collapse of Germany in the war by Senator Arthur Vandenberg in an address made Saturday evening in Detroit.

Mr. Pollock was one of the American leaders who set up the political government now being used in the American zone of occupation, and which was proposed by the United States for the government of all of Germany, at the close of the war. Senator Vandenberg stated, however, France and Russia refused to go along with the policy advocated by Pollock, but it has been found to be so popular in the American zone of occupation that it is being adopted by the British.

Mr. Pollock has been on leave of absence from the University of Michigan, and returned about a month ago to report to the government, after spending 14 months in Germany setting up the political government and advising U. S. officials. He will attend the meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, opening today, in New York, and expects to return to Germany afterwards where he will serve in an advisory capacity. While in New York, he will lecture before the graduate seminar of the new School for Social Research which has been recently established. Try The News Want Ads For Results

New Wage Boosts Will Mean End Of Many Industries

Such Is Prediction Of Robert R. Wason, President Of National Manufacturers Association

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Robert R. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, predicted today that another round of wage increases will be followed by a proportionate boost in prices by some industries, while many others will fold up.

He told newsmen in Philadelphia prior to addressing the eastern industrial conference, that a greater payroll load would prove drastic to many firms which have not yet absorbed the last wage boosts.

"There will be a round of price increases if labor is unwilling to live with the wage increases they've received," he said. "The wage increases have developed with such rapidity, that management may not be able to absorb them, and some may go out of business."

He laid much of the blame to "government controls," declaring that since the war ended, the restrictions have prevented the production of goods, and scarcities together with the expanded dollar in the hands of the people have raised prices.

"It took the government 15 months to gather enough strength to tell the people what a child knows," he declared—"namely, that when production of goods is prevented by the OPA, and there is no ceiling on the production of debt by the government—that prices rise."

Zoning Ordinance Is Now Amended

When council met Monday in city hall the zoning ordinance was amended that now makes it easier to procure a permit for construction.

Heretofore a person prior to getting the city's permission had to have a petition signed by 100 percent of property-owners residing within 200 feet of the propose structure.

The amendment adopted today cuts down the number to 60 percent.

Salvation Army Station Wagon Arrives At Last

Corps Headquarters Will Have New Vehicle Ready For Service Wednesday

After a year of waiting, the Salvation Army station wagon, a 1946 Chevrolet, has arrived and will be ready for service Wednesday, according to Captain Thelma Dunton, head of the local corps.

The station wagon has been needed for many months, as the New Castle corps has had no means of transportation and has been forced to call for outside assistance many times.

At a meeting of the advisory board last week, plans for the raising of the additional $200, needed to completely pay for the wagon, were developed.

Offer Reward For Stuttgart Bombers

FRANKFURT, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Award of 2,500 marks was offered today by the mayor of Stuttgart for the apprehension of persons responsible for three bomb explosions in that city.

U. S. officers said today that preliminary investigations have disclosed that the explosions were not aimed at U. S. forces or U. S. occupation policy but purely a demonstration by German Rightist elements against the imprisonment of Hjalmar Schacht.

Schacht is confined in the Stuttgart jail.

U. S. headquarters branded as untrue rumors that the bombings were a manifestation of organized German resistance throughout the U. S. zone.

London has few buildings of more than 100 feet in height, but a new law permits construction to a height of 150 feet.

Cotton Futures Again Tumble

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Cotton futures on the New York cotton exchange again tumbled the maximum allowable limit of $10 a bale at the reopening of trading today following the emergency closing Saturday.

The May, 1947 contract and the July, 1947 contract were off the full 200 points, while losses of from $4 to $6 a bale were sustained in other contract months.

Today's break marked the fourth session in a row that cotton has tumbled the full $10 a bale permissible trading limit. The fall was attributed to the market's vulnerable position as a result of uncertainties over the decontrol program and the fact it had risen sharply over recent months.

The heavy decline in cotton, following President Truman's decision to lift price controls on meat and livestock, resulted in an emergency closing just prior to Saturday's opening to allow time to study situation.

In New York, the board of managers met Saturday afternoon, and all day Sunday when it was announced that liquidation of a long position had been completed.

Supreme Court To Give Decision

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The Supreme court today agreed to decide a conflict between Federal and State governments involving regulatory powers over public grain warehouses.

The question arose on the appeal of the Illinois Commerce commission from two Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals decisions holding that Federal licensing legislation had completely supplanted Illinois' power over public grain warehouses as a state public utility service.

Hon. Rhys Davies Speaks For Peace

Former Member Of British Parliament Heard At First Congregational Church

HAS NO FEAR OF WAR WITH RUSSIA

"If the capitalistic system cannot keep your people out of war, you will come to Socialism in the United States whether you want it or not. Nobody ever won a war and nobody can tell you why we fought the last one."

"Hitler was made because of economic conditions, because of poverty and no other reason."

"I do not fear war with Russia. Russia cannot afford a war, certainly Great Britain cannot. The United States is the only nation in the world that can afford a war but remember this, it is war that eats up your substance. It is time for the statesmen of the world to begin telling the truth."

Peace Speaker

The above are a few of the more striking excerpts from an address delivered Sunday night in First Congregational church by Hon. Rhys Davies, a member of the British Parliament for the past twenty five years and a former cabinet member in the MacDonald Labor government. Mr. Davies spoke here under the auspices of the American Friends Service committee.

"You Americans wonder what happened to Winston Churchill in the recent elections," he said. "Frankly you were no more amazed than were we and yet his defeat followed a pattern. When the people are done with war they are done with their war leaders. You people did the same thing with Woodrow Wilson in 1920."

"Americans sometimes wonder what sort of people we are and I must say that neither country knows enough of the other. Yours is a great country and I salute it for its achievements, for its resources, for its power."

"In Great Britain we do not have your resources. We have a Socialist or Labor government because we want peace. True we are nationalizing some of our industries, but not all, only those that deal with the health or welfare of the people. In nationalizing them we purchase the industries from the private owners at an agreed price. Then we usually select the best men who formerly operated the industries and appoint them as managers, usually at an increase in salaries. And you in America have done some of this. Your army and your navy are nationalized, your postal service is nationalized. We have gone a little farther and nationalized the Bank of England, which wasn't the bank of England but a private concern using the name, the coal mines and eventually the steel mills."

Must Be Peace

Mr. Davies spent some time in discussing the Socialist government of Great Britain but woven through his entire address was a plea for peace, for no more war.

"We know too much about war in my country," said he. "You folks know nothing of bombings, of seeing thousands of homes destroyed. You speak of shortages and believe they are serious. Here is our food ration for a week: Two ounces of butter, 1 ounce of lard, 3 ounces of cheese, 12 ounces of meat, no poultry and little fish, and for two years we have had one egg per person per month. We are not starving for we have plenty of potatoes, and bread. But you Americans know nothing of shortages or of the desolation of war as we know it."

"That is why we want peace. I have always been against war, I am against war and if we continue in the ways of war, destruction awaits us all."

In the afternoon Mr. Davies talked upon present day Wales. His evening talk was on Peace and the Socialist government. He was presided in the afternoon by Councilman D. O. Davies and in the evening by Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of First Congregational church and a long time friend of Mr. Davies.

Report On Probe Of Missouri Vote To Be Made Soon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(INS)—A congressional committee today faced a decision potentially laden with political dynamite affecting President Truman and the Missouri primary in which Rep. Roger C. Slaughter was "purged" by the administration.

The committee must decide whether the August Democratic primary in the fifth Missouri congressional district, adjoining the president's home town of Independence, showed any evidence of illegality.

Its decision will be based in large part on the findings of two investigators, who have returned from Kansas City and are now drawing up a report. The report will be made available later this week to the house committee investigating campaign expenditures.

Will Make Decision

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), committee chairman, expressed the belief that this five-member group would hand down a decision—"one way or the other"—before the Nov. 5 elections.

If the committee decides that Eugene A. Axtell, the successful candidate who was backed by the president, the CIO-PAC and the Democratic Federation of Kansas City, won his nomination in an illegal manner, it will order public hearings. The hearings, if held, probably would be postponed until after the general election.

Priest said he realized the committee's decision was fraught with political significance and added: "I don't intend to decide by myself what action should be taken. Let the committee decide on the basis of the investigators' report."

State Police Say:—

Some motorists appear to be of the opinion that when they come to a stop at a stop sign before entering a through highway, their duty is completed. The law requires that when the operator of a motor vehicle stops at a stop sign he shall remain stopped until the highway is clear and free of oncoming traffic from either direction. In other words, he must yield the right-of-way to all traffic on the through highway.

Governor Dewey Rejects Demand

Declines To Call Special Session Of New York Legislature Demanded By Group

SCHENECTADY, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Gov. Dewey came to Schenectady today to inspect and dedicate two emergency housing projects following a stormy Sunday session at Albany with a group of embattled war veterans who wanted a special session of the legislature to launch an $800,000 housing program.

The veterans ended a 23-hour seizure of the state senate chamber after the governor met with them, reconsidering his earlier refusal to do so.

Rejects Special Session Demand Dewey, however, flatly rejected their demand for a special session, declaring that the state had appropriated for housing all the money which can be spent this year.

"Dollars don't build houses," he said. "We have the dollars, but we can't get the needed materials."

The governor also told the veterans that he had accomplished more housing projects than any governor and that, in this state, New York outstripped the federal government three to one.

Mass Picketing In Film Strike Ordered By Union

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The conference of studio unions announced today it would invoke mobile mass picketing demonstrations in the Hollywood jurisdiction film strike.

Strike boss Herb Sorrell ordered pickets, their families including children—and their friends to mass in autos at the Gower Street entrance of RKO studios.

Ed Gilbert, picket leader, said the mobile picket units would "turn up without warning for mass demonstrations at strategic points."

Sorrell hinted at the possibility of renewed violence. He declared: "We are going to try and comply with the law, but if the police don't stop their present tactics—well, like the cops were going to become mob breakers."

The strike boss predicted the coming week would be the turning point in the bitter dispute between the CSU and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees over control of movie set erection.

Franz Von Papen's Request Refused

NUERNBERG, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Col. Burton C. Andrus, commandant of the Nuernberg jail, revealed today he had rejected the request of ex-diplomat Franz Von Papen to reoccupy a cage in which he "could live more comfortably."

Von Papen, who was acquitted by the war crimes tribunal, continues voluntarily to occupy an unlocked cell in the draft prison which houses 174 other inmates, for fear he will be arrested by denazification authorities.

Andrus said that Von Papen requested also that armed American guards be placed around the requisitioned house to prevent German police from arresting him and as a safeguard against possible mob action.

The former diplomat is awaiting a reply to his request for safe passage into the British occupation zone.

The Price of MEAT

As a consumer who is concerned with the supply of meat and the price of meat, you are entitled to know, right now, these inescapable facts:

Meat supplies now are at a record low. Supply lines are empty. People, who haven't had much meat lately, want it. But it will take time to restore meat to retail counters.

When there is little meat and everybody wants it the price is bound to rise. But more meat is coming in the months ahead, and as supplies increase and approach the demand, the price is bound to level off. That's the law of supply and demand in operation. Nobody can repeal it.

Nobody in the meat business controls prices. Consumers determine prices by what they are willing to pay for meat. That determines what retailers can pay meat packers for it, and finally, in turn, what the meat packers can afford to pay for meat animals.

Right now, of course, there is bound to be stiff competition in the buying of livestock. There are thousands of meat processors, all anxious to restore their businesses. Competitors in the business want all the animals they can buy so they will have meat to sell . . . and the best price will get the animals. There also is keen competition in the sale of meat because meat processors must have customers, and the lowest prices for meat will get the business.

So . . . as meat gradually starts to return shortly to the counters of retail stores, we urge consumers:

- 1—Don't insist on only the fanciest kinds and cuts.
- 2—Do shop around for the best buys in meat. There is as much good nutrition in a savory stew as there is in a fancy porterhouse.

It is the earnest desire of the meat packing industry that, as quickly as possible, consumers again may find on retail counters everywhere the kind of meat they want, when they want it, at fair competitive prices . . . like it used to be just a few years ago. Remember?

War Department Taboos List Of Gifts To Soldiers

By FRANCES MUSIC

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Secretary of War Patterson and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower gave overseas GI's an enviable right today—freedom to ward off impractical Christmas gifts.

The man-to-man tip on means of preventing the folks at home from being unwise Santa Clauses was carried in an official war department document distributed to all commands.

The war secretary and army chief of staff gave soldiers the go ahead for bluntly declaring their likes and dislikes. They said:

"In order that Christmas parcels to overseas personnel may be limited to articles which are desired and are not normally obtainable at overseas stations personnel abroad should notify friends and relatives from whom they anticipate receiving gifts as to the type of articles which would be most acceptable.

This action was applauded by army officers stationed in Washington who were overseas during the war. A major recalled that he received cans of Spam from a friend, who he said "really was well-meaning."

Gifts Tabooed

The war department tabooed the following because they are available at post exchanges: Candy, gum, cigarettes, shaving equipment, soap, toiletries, watches, cameras and cigarette lighters.

In addition, shoppers can strike socks and ties off their lists. It was pointed out that the overseas soldier is provided ample clothing.

Postoffices throughout the nation already are accepting 1946 Christmas packages destined for army personnel overseas. The special gift mailing period during which packages may be sent without request slips will continue until November 15.

More Suggestions

Post office officials and army postal officers offered these additional suggestions:

Avoid fragile gifts. Perishable items are unacceptable. Intoxicants, inflammables and poisons are prohibited.

Gift packages are limited to 70 pounds and the combined length and girth to 100 inches.

Recommended gift box materials are metal, wood, solid fiberboard and strong double-face corrugated fiberboards testing at least 200 pounds.

Boxes must be packed solidly to avoid rattling and crushing and should carry directly on them the printed address of the sender as well as that of the addressee. Do not write on gummed labels.

Insure packages.

FALL PASTURED COWS NEED EXTRA FEED

Too many cows do not receive enough feed while on pasture during the fall months, and as a result, they lose flesh, drop in milk production and go into winter quarters out of condition.

Good fall pasture is an excellent feed, but cows do not eat sufficient grass to give them all the nutrients necessary for good milk production and to maintain a good condition of flesh.

Plenty of roughage should be fed to supplement pasture at this time. Good quality hay is without doubt the No. 1 feed, and cows should be allowed all they will clean up morning and evening.

Silage is another feed that may be used to advantage at this time of year. Many dairymen start feeding silage as soon as the silo is filled. The only objection to feeding silage right away is the problem of keeping it from spoiling. Spoilage is less of a problem after the silage has had a chance to settle and become well packed. By keeping the top well tramped the silage usually can be fed off fast enough to prevent spoilage.

Held Captive By Chinese Bandits

PEIPING, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Chinese bandits held two U. S. marine captives today and military authorities in Tientsin said their capture climaxed armed attacks on army and navy personnel 27 miles east of the marine base.

Marine headquarters at Tientsin immediately made efforts to contact the bandits in an attempt to negotiate for release of the marines.

Military headquarters said the attacks were made yesterday by unidentified armed Chinese near the village of Hsin Ho, 27 miles east of Tientsin.

Marines Kidnaped
A marine headquarters announcement said the marines were kidnaped after three armed Chinese patrols attacked nine marines who were accompanying several Russian civilians on a hunting trip near the village.

The Russians and marines had broken into three groups when attacked separately. They surrendered to the Chinese and were taken to a central point, where they negotiated for their release except for the two marines.

Names Not Revealed
Names of the captive marines were not revealed, pending results of the investigations and negotiations.

In another incident, later the same day, three navy enlisted men traveling by jeep from Tangku to Tientsin, were attacked by seven armed Chinese who attempted to seize their weapons.

The sailors repulsed that attack, wounding several of their assailants. They said approximately 50 Chinese concealed in the brush along the road opened fire. The sailors, who were not injured, were forced to return to Tangku.

Continue Probe Of Garsson InterestsProsecutors Said To Have Ace-In-Hole As Blue-Ribbon Grand Jury Hears Witnesses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Prosecutors in the blue-ribbon grand jury probe of the Garsson interests today reportedly had an ace-in-the-hole in the form of alleged "technical" violations by certain members of the munitions combine.

As the carefully-selected grand jury prepared to resume its inquiry today a source connected with the investigation predicted prosecutors could fall back on technical violations if they fail to produce evidence to justify indictments on major offenses.

William H. Paisley, chief prosecutor, announced he would have out-of-town witnesses today as the 18 men and 5 women continue their probe of the "paper" empire that got 78 million dollars worth of war contracts.

Paisley carefully avoided giving any hint about whether the witnesses were called to testify about the combine itself, headed by Dr. Henry M. Garsson and his brother, Murray, or about the aid Rep. May (D-Ky.) once labeled the "guardian angel," allegedly gave the combine.

An informed source said that "technical" charges might be brought against certain persons who participated in the combine's affairs if evidence on which the prosecutors are relying for indictments on more serious charges breaks down.

Believes Meat
Prices Will Be Forced Down

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson today expressed the belief meat prices will be forced down gradually as the supply increases.

He backed, however, on a prediction as to when the supply will increase. He said it all depended on whether cattle raisers rush their herds to market to reap current high prices or hold them for fattening.

Anderson said in either event the supply should begin to near the demand within two or three months. He said the supply may be adequate to provide 176 pounds per capita annually "in the near future."

Stolen Jewels May Have Been Dropped From Parachute

BREST, France, Oct. 21.—(INS.)—Police investigated the possibility today that a cylindrical container dropped by parachute and seen by a farmer may have contained the jewels stolen from the Duchess of Windsor.

The farmer, one Goasguen, in a village near Brest, said he saw an airplane circling above his fields yesterday morning, drop the tiny parachute before disappearing westward.

He added that when the container struck the ground heavily it broke open, displaying brilliant objects, apparently jewels, as the contents.

Goasguen said he hurried to the spot but two men hidden nearby arrived first and picked up the parachute, the container and contents and hurried off.

Then, the farmer said, he heard the motor of a powerful car speeding away.

Reductions Operation Routed At Pentagon

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The war department's operation reduction campaign was apparently thoroughly routed on the Pentagon front.

Usually well informed military sources revealed that far from decreasing in its prodigious wartime capacity, the nation's most fabled center of strange happenings was actually gaining in population.

Not only that, but taxi service to the battlegrounds is forty per cent off and bus service is forty per cent heavier.

A communique from the mechanized warfare branch also revealed that the Pentagon parking lots, frequently described as a well-marked facsimile of the Indianapolis speedway, are doing business unparalleled even in peak war years.

But usually reliable and fairly high armed forces spokesmen indicated there were some justifiable grounds for the frenzied goings-on. One officer, more outspoken than most, forthrightly declared:

Being Revitalized

"We are being revitalized here." The revitalization, a close scrutiny of communications revealed, is the "wrapping-up" of the war department's activities on a score-plus of satellite fronts.

With some 31,000 officers and civilians swarming through the Pentagon during World War II, military leaders were forced to take over fifty-one additional buildings in Washington to effectively survive the office-space crisis.

The end of the war reduced the personnel, the need and the budget allocations.

Within the last eight months, thirty-one of the buildings have been returned to private ownership and the residue thereof, some several thousand military and government employees, have transferred their desks to the Pentagon.

Strange Figures

This, headquarters sources were able to place on the record today, has accounted for some strange population figures.

While apparently in the process of streamlining the war department had cut its Pentagon casualty figures to 22,500 four months ago.

Today, 28,000-plus go through the cloistered but confusing halls of military G. H. Q. and the figure will reach 31,000-plus before the end of the year. The satellite building turnover, they emphasize, is the whole reason.

Not only that, but the Pentagon's restaurants are still serving an average of sixty to 65,000 meals daily to American high-level planners and incoming personnel have been "rationed" to office space requirements not to exceed eight-foot-six-inches square.

Some 1,700 enlisted men are the non-commissioned nucleus of the Pentagon but usually well-advised sources said the remainder were hardly officers. Far from it, civilian employees outnumber officers and enlisted men nearly two-to-one in the 28,000 figures.

There has been no relaxing of the red alert over the building's extensive elevators, either. It was learned. Earmarked in wartime for cargo only, the ban continues on passengers in peace time—up to and including the secretary of war.

Plan To Resume Peace Efforts In China Once More

NANKING, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Chief Communist Negotiator Chou En-Lai returned to Nanking today in order to resume peace talks with the Chinese nationalist government.

Chou, arriving from Shanghai, immediately rushed to a meeting with Nationalist party leaders and representatives of minority parties.

Negotiators from all parties were closeted in a long conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and U. S. Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart.

China's capital city took on a general air of excitement as news spread of Chou's return.

For the first time in the long, drawn-out negotiations over China's civil war, spokesmen for all political parties in Nanking expressed cautious but undisguised optimism over prospects for peace.

Chou's return to Nanking was at the insistence of minority parties who last week stepped into the dispute in a last-hour effort to end the stalemate between communists and nationalists.

Chemical Tests May Aid Solving Goering Mystery

NUERNBERG, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Col. Burton C. Andrus, commandant of the Nuernberg jail, said today that chemical tests are in progress in a closely guarded laboratory as the final step in solving the mystery of Hermann Goering's suicide.

The tests, in a United States army hospital outside Nuernberg, are believed being made on specimens of the Reichsmarschal's flesh to confirm that cyanide was the cause of his death.

Andrus said the three-man army investigating board has completed its report to the quadripartite control council commission and is awaiting only the result of the laboratory test before announcing the solution of the puzzle of how Goering obtained the poison.

New President Of Lehigh Takes His Office Today

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 21.—(INS)—Dr. Martin D. Whitaker, noted nuclear physicist, began his tenure today as eighth president of Lehigh university.

Dr. Whitaker, who was acting chairman of the department of physics at New York university before becoming director of the atomic laboratory at Oak Ridge, was inaugurated at the institution's 69th founder's day commencement exercises.

ADVOCATES SMILE FOR ULCER MALADY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—(INS)—A smile was inaugurated today as the best antidote for stomach ulcers.

Dr. Jurgen Ruesch, psychiatrist at the University of California medical school, was authority for the conclusion that people with "warped" personalities are common among victims of stomach ulcers.

Doctor Ruesch based his conclusion on a survey of patients at the university's Langley Porter Clinic in San Francisco.

The psychiatrist explained that people whose inadequate personalities leave them unable to deal with complex situations become agitated—a condition which produces ulcers.

Report Progress To End Pollution In State Waterways

HARRISBURG, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The State Sanitary Water Board today claimed substantial progress in its drive to end pollution of Pennsylvania's waterways.

The anti-pollution program, financed under a $6,525,000 appropriation, has become a model for other states attempting to solve the "dirty waterways" problem, the board reported.

Approximately 29,000 tons of silt and 47,000 tons of the smaller sizes of coal were being strained each day from mine washings in the anthracite region, it was revealed.

So effective was the program in the hard coal fields, the board said, that coal dredgings on the Susquehanna river near Harrisburg were preparing to end their 36-year-old business, after taking more than 12,000,000 tons of sand-like coal from the stream for sale to industry.

The board predicted that 12,000 tons of silt would be strained from mine washings in the Schuylkill basin area by March, 1947.

In the bituminous fields, the board disclosed operators accounting for 95 per cent of the soft coal output in the state had complied with initial orders designed to end pollution of western Pennsylvania streams.

More than 2600 operators had been directed to submit mine drainage reports, it was added.

Abandoned coal mines on the west branch of the Susquehanna river, the Clifton river near Cook State Forest and Tonawanda Creek were being sealed to prevent contamination of waterways, the board said.

Koreans Killed In More Rioting

SEOUL, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Five Koreans were reported killed today in a new outbreak of "anti-police" riots.

The deaths were reported to have occurred in Kaesong, one of the main American Occupation Army outposts, just south of the 38th parallel which divides United States and Russian control zones.

The Kaesong police chief, two policemen and two rioters were reported killed.

Riots also took place in several small towns near Kaesong and also in Kanggi province.

A mob at Kwaju in Kanggi province was said to have stormed and burned the police station. The riot was broken up when police reinforcements arrived and recaptured the burning building.

Every 90 seconds, a house burns somewhere in the United States, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

CIO-UAW Executive Board Decides To Demand Wage Boost

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The CIO-United Automobile Workers' international executive board left undetermined today the exact amount the union will demand in wage increases from the automotive industry.

In a 1,460-word policy statement issued late yesterday at the conclusion of a three-day session in Cleveland, the union demanded "substantial wage adjustments" within the industry.

DULL TRADING IN DAY'S MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Stocks were mixed in dull trading today. Volume was low, only 160,000 shares changing hands in the first hour.

Most of the financial community's interest was centered in the cotton market, where trading was resumed after the Saturday suspension. This morning prices again fell the $10 limit in frenzied trading. Other commodities were quiet, with grains firm.

Coffee trading was resumed to day after a lull of nearly five weeks. Santos No. 4 contract was traded at 25 cents a pound compared with the recent ceiling of 22 1/2 cents and a price of 13 cents when the N. Y. coffee futures market closed in December of 1941.

In securities, trading was selective. Steels and some of the motors scored fractional gains. Hiram Walker led the liquors, getting up to 29 or the equivalent of 116 on the old stock which had closed at 114. Sugar stocks were firm, but rails were weak.

Bonds were quiet.

Says Security Council Misused

U. S. Delegate Johnson
Claims U. N. Body Used As "Forum And Sounding Board"

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Concern over "misuse" of the United Nations Security Council as a forum and sounding board for individual propaganda was expressed today by Herschel V. Johnson, chief U. S. Delegate.

Johnson, speaking at a luncheon forum of the Foreign Policy Association, here, said the council has been misused for the effect on public confidence of the council for its purposes. The people are misled by the making of wild and un- charges, harsh accusa- tions within the

He had been arrested Wednesday, the FBI said, after entering this country from Canada. Federal agents said Lau had fled from the United States in 1941. They charged he was the paymaster known as "Bill" in the spy ring headed by Kurt Frederick Ludwig and Capt. Ulrich von der Osten who were said to be working in the United States under direct orders from Heinrich Himmler. Von der Osten was killed in a Times Square taxi cab accident and Lau is said by the FBI to have been the man who grabbed the dead Nazi's brief case and disappeared.

also touched on the "veto" power. Although not condemning the right of any of the big five nations to exercise it, he said "in our view, the resort to the veto should be the rare exception to the rule."

As an example, Johnson cited the Ukrainian complaint against Greece wherein the latter was charged with inciting border incidents against Albania. The United States proposed appointment of a committee to investigate "on the spot."

Paymaster For Spy Ring Held

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(INS)—Teodoro Erdman Lau, described by the FBI as paymaster for the most notorious Nazi spy ring to operate in this country was held in jail unable to furnish $50,000 bail.

Lau, 44 years old and an Argentine citizen of German birth, was arraigned before Federal Judge Rifkind on espionage charges yesterday afternoon and held under the high bail.

They upheld the right of the council, but on the principle that direct negotiation between powers first should be tried.

Garden Notes

Dry lime-sulfur dust and rotenone dust lost their strength when exposed. Store them over winter in tight containers and seal with adhesive tape.

Place wire guards around the base of fruit trees to protect them from damage by rabbits and mice. The guards should extend into the ground to prevent mice from getting underneath.

Clean up your vegetable patch after everything is harvested, so that it will be ready for early planting in the spring.

Often apple trees suffer from root killing due to a severe winter in which there is little snow on the ground. One way to prevent this is to mulch the trees in the fall.

A cover crop such as winter rye not only adds organic matter to the soil, but reduces loss of soil from erosion and loss of nitrogen by leaching.
